Cooperation between Commerce and CIA/ORR members in exploiting official Soviet foreign trade data will permit the future publication of these data in usable form and will increase their availability to the Government community. Meetings of the Subcommittee, although infrequent, have been marked by informal discussions of current problems of interest in Sino-Soviet Bloc economic relations. Discussion this year has shifted from its previous, almost exclusive, concern with China to include trade problems of the Sino-Soviet Bloc as a whole and to those of the three main economic regions of the Bloc.

B. Future Program of the Subcommittee.

The officers of the Subcommittee plan to propose to the members a general program for the next fiscal year in which attention will be devoted to reviewing the summaries and conclusions of several selected intelligence reports and to discussing specific topics of current interest to the Subcommittee. Prospective subjects for the agenda are a joint appraisal by the Subcommittee of the Soviet price and currency reform which is to take place in January, 1961 and an informal review of the Bloc trade contribution, prepared by CIA/ORR, to the Balance of Power study. The contribution of trade to the Soviet Seven Year Plan will also be discussed during the course of the year.
